It is probably unconventional for an employee to recognize their boss. But Trissy is very deserving! I feel extremely fortunate and blessed to work for such a great person. Trissy cultivates an enriching environment for ALL of her employees. She has been a godsend to the Office. I don't know that morale could be higher. Whenever extenuating circumstances have come up, she has been more than accommodating. Everything is handled in stride. She is quick to commend and offer a helping a helping hand of encouragement when it is needed. I love working with and for Trissy and would like to express what an asset she is to the County.

I would like to nominate Cheryl Elliot for her time, dedication, and excellent presentation to our Middle School students as presenter to the Terrific Tuesdays Paws and Pals Club. Cheryl did a presentation on both human and animal sheltering, including an exercise called "The Pillow Project". Prior to attending Terrific Tuesdays, Cheryl drew by hand, pictures of animals on the pillowcases for the children to color. They embellished on her art by drawing pictures of their own animals, then name of their pets, and other related information such as their phone number, on the pillowcases which they were then allowed to call their own. Cheryl's presentation was not only factually informative, it gave the children a sense of security that if something really terrible happened in our county, they and their families, as well as their pets would be protected. The pillowcases took hours of Cheryl's time to prepare in advance of the club meeting and they were done with her usually meticulous attention to detail. I am grateful to work with someone, though busy with her own projects, who would give her time to share her knowledge in order to educate children in Fluvanna County.

I inadvertently left my keys behind in the record room. (A lady picked them up, unbeknownst to me.) Around 4:30pm, I went back inside and Nancy Pace allowed me to look for my keys, even though the doors were locked and it was closing time. In addition, she also helped me retrace my steps. When we could not find the keys, she recommended Wagner's Towing Service to unlock my vehicle, so that I could access my spare keys and get home. It was about 5:15pm, when I left and Nancy Pace was still working. The next morning, I got a phone call from Trista Larson, letting me know that a lady turned my keys into a deputy, who then turned them into Trista Larson. I was impressed with the level of care and attentiveness shown towards me by Nancy Pace, when she was not expected to help me, since it was after business hours. She went above and beyond what most people would have done in a similar situation. Deputy Wood responded to that incident, and was the first deputy to arrive at the scene of this incident. Deputy Wood had the forethought to carry an emergency medical kit with him to the scene. After Deputy Wood secured the scene, he provided immediate on-scene medical care to the injured man. The man was shot at close range with a shotgun and sustained massive trauma to his torso and was bleeding heavily. Deputy Wood managed to provide care and help control the bleeding, skills he learned from his time in the Marine Corps, until EMTs arrived 14 minutes later.

Deputy Thornton responded to a call for service in which a man cut his own throat , lacerating his trachea and jugular vein. Using minimal supplies available, Deputy Thornton was able to control the bleeding, and assist EMS with transporting the victim to a medical air transport. Largely due to the immediate decisive actions of Deputy Thornton, the victim later made a full recovery.

Deputy Thornton responded to a call for service, in which an individual cut off his hand with an electric saw. Deputy Thornton acted quickly before EMS arrival and secured a tourniquet on the individual to control the bleeding. He determined the patient as critically injured, requiring a medical air transport to the Emergency Department of the closest hospital.

I would like to commend Ms. Amy Helfrich for her outstanding work for the past few months. It is common knowledge that is not easy for employees when major staff changes occur, especially when the Department is also short staffed. As the new Building Inspections Department Manager, I have to rely on the support from staff. Since my first day with Fluvanna County, Ms. Helfrich has been an exemplary employee and a great resource. Though it was not easy on our Department while short staffed, the services expected from our team have continued to be provided. That was only possible because of great employees such as Ms. Amy Helfrich. Her attention to detail, dependability, initiative, customer service skills and dedication to the Department and the County are to be admired and appreciated.
