Spotlight on Business

- TOTES McGOATS Body Soaps

- Jennifer Lyons

- Totes McGoats Body Soaps started as a hobby. My kids had developed eczema from using store bought products, and as a nurse, I knew natural was the way to go. Living in Columbia, I have the space to have my goats and use their milk to make a product that I know is safe for my family. When I started making soap and lotions, I used my family to try out different recipes until I found the right ones adding fragrances that made it perfect.
- Totes is now a family business where every member of the family plays a part. We sell on-line but love to talk about our products and goats in person at the many festivals we attend like Fluvanna's Old Farm Day. The more my customers enjoy the products, the more it encourages me to expand and try new things. Besides goat milk soaps and lotions we now have bath bombs, sugar scrubs, dog shampoo, candles and more. 2017 is looking to be an exciting year with more festivals, new fragrances, and new products.
